Black Ripe Olives

Naturals black olives are snacking au naturel. First, you'll notice their ruddiness and distinctive freckles. Second, their earthy flavor: the mildest of olive types. Black olives are naturally color-free, preservative free, and any other stuff-free. In other words, snack freely. And third, they're the last word in olive nutrition.

Sliced Olives

Our sliced California black olives are as close to perfection as you can get. All we did was add a dash of sea salt. Oh, and sliced them up so you can toss these convenient olive slices in a healthy salad or pasta. Sliced black olives: a little slice of heaven on Earth.

Green Ripe Olives

These natural, freckled beauties are harvested just once a year to capture the smooth, buttery flavor. With no added preservatives, green ripe olives are melt-in-your-mouth unique. Slightly salty. Subtly nutty. And milder than most other olive types. Voted "favorite olive" by Lindsay employees.
